CURIOUS MEDLEY.

By the lake where drooped the willow,
I want to be an angel,
And jump Jim Crow.

An old crow sat on a hickory limb,
None named him but to praise;
Let me kiss him for his mother,
For he smells of Schweitzer kase.

The minstrel to the war has gone,
With the banjo on his knee;
He woke to hear the sentries shriek,
There's a light in the window for thee.

A frog he would a wooing go,
His hair was curled to kill;
He used to wear an old gray coat,
And the sword of Bunker Hill.

Oft in the stilly night,
Make way for liberty! he cried,
I won't go home till morning,
With Peggy by my side.

I am dying, Egypt, dying,
Susannah don't you cry;
Know how sublime a thing it is
To brush away the blue-tailed fly.

The boy stood on the burning deck,
With his baggage checked for Troy,
One of the few immortal names,
His name was Pat Malloy.

Mary had a little lamb,
He could a tale unfold,
He had no teeth for to eat a corn cake,
And his spectacles were gold.

Lay on, lay on, Macduff,
Man wants but little here below,
And I'm to be Queen of the May,
So kiss me quick and let me go!

CORRY O'LANUS' EPISTLE.

Reflections on the Election—How the Result Came About—Russian America—Weatherwise and Otherwise—A Name Wanted—The "Offs" and "Skis"—A Coat of Arms for the New State.

DEAR EAGLE: You have heard of the result of the election.

Beecher and I were both beaten.

There are various ways of accounting for this result.

One is that neither of us got votes enough.

That is understood.

But why?

I'll tell you. It is owing to our imperfect system of suffrage.

If the ladies had been allowed to vote, Beecher would have been elected.

I believe all the ladies, out of gratitude, would have voted for Beecher.

Except, perhaps, the dressmakers, who might have preferred Cuyler.

If suffrage had been universal, and the ballot-box had been sent over to Ireland, I should have polled a heavy vote in Connaught, where the O'Lanuses are affectionately remembered.

O'Pake, who was confident that I ought to be elected, engaged an Italian band of two harps and fiddle to serenade me as soon as I was declared elected.

The figures set aside these calculations, and the serenade was postponed.

And the speech I had prepared for the occasion was not delivered.

As I have not been elected to the Convention I am not responsible for anything it may do.

I begin to think that this is an ungrateful country, and that genius is not appreciated here.

All my efforts to serve the public have been unavailing.

I have some thoughts of leaving Brooklyn and going where talent is recognized.

The purchase of Russian America opens a new field of enterprise.

A splended field for ice companies and skating-pond proprietors.

The climate they say is pleasant after you get used to it.

There are none of the sudden changes of temperature you experience here.

It freezes steady the year round.

It never rains there; snow is the nearest approach to it they ever experience.

Winter usually sets in about the first of November, and lasts till the middle of next November.

They have a short summer about the first of August.

Which lasts about twenty minutes.

The people avail themselves of the opportunity to lay in their winter supplies.

The population is of a mixed descent, like that of the Eastern States.

The principal races are Exquimaux, Seals, Russians, Bears and Walruses.

The chief productions of the country are ice, furs, ice, aurora borealises, ice, whales, icebergs, whale-oil, and ice.

The ice crop is the largest in the United States.

A statistician in the State Department has computed that a tax of half a cent a pound on all the ice produced in this new territory would pay off the national debt in six months, with a balance sufficient to pay the salary of the Secretary of State.

To say nothing of the income tax that might be collected from the Esquimaux.

The peculiar wants of the people would open a new market for the products of American industry.

The principle diet of the Russians is fried candles.

Since the introduction of kerosene oil, the candle trade has declined and it is nothing like what it was when Garibaldi made long sixes at Staten Island.

The annexation to the States of so large a candle consuming population would create a revival in the trade.

But the political advantages are still greater.

What a lot of new offices will be created.

Collectors, Assessors, Postmasters, and such.

The Esquimaux are not much addicted to correspondence; but it wouldn't be the fault of the Postmasters if they had nothing to do.

The territory would want to become a State, and if its sentiments at all correspond with the lattitude, it would be sufficiently Northern in politics to insure prompt admission to the Union.

There is a suspicion that, owing to their very northern situation, the popular ideas of the population might run to an extreme that would out-radical the Radicals.

Their views on the suffrage question might out-Beecher Beecher.

Suppose, for instance, they insisted on extending the franchise, not only to the human population of all the races, ages, and sexes, but give the vote to the seals and walruses.

I think of going out to the territory to run for Congress.

A fellow could retire on the proceeds of one term.

The amount of mileage of a member of Congress from the North Pole to Washington, at the present rates, would amount to $139,892 14.

A man could afford to go through a great variety of temperature at this rate.

The new territory has not been named yet, and Secretary Seward is open for proposals on the subject.

Expecting to represent the country officially, I also feel interested.

We would like to have something original, and expressive.

Johnsonia has been suggested, but A. J. is rather played out and the name wouldn't go down.

Being of Russian extraction, a name with a Muscovite flavor would be appropriate.

All Russian names end with off or ski.

This has divided public opinion into two parties, known as the "offs" and "skis."

I belong to the "skis." My friend O'Pake, who belongs to the same party, has suggested the appropriate name of "Corryolanuski."

Modesty forbids my expatiating on the euphony and elegance of this name.

"Grodjinski" sounds well, but his Indians don't belong to the Esquimaux tribe.

"Highlandryski" would be very appropriate.

This name was suggested by a report that Joe Reeve was going out to the territory to try and induce the Esquimaux to adopt the paid fire department system.

The "offs" have a great many names.

"Damlongwayoff" is Russian, peculiar, and expressive.

"Eversofaroff" is not so emphatic.

"Jumpingoff" is not bad for the extremity of creation.

The subject of names opens a wide field for discussion, and I will leave it to Congress, who is paid to attend to such business.

I have, however, devised a coat of arms for the new State:

An iceberg illuminated with the rays of the aurora borealis, a walrus rampant, and the universal Yankee seated on a barrel of whale oil, whittling the north pole with a jack-knife.

Motto: "Fiat justitia ruat seal-um"—"Let justice be done to the seals."

Yours, on ice, CORRY O'LANUS.

—Brooklyn Eagle.

—By the acquisition of Russian America the United States flag has been advanced to within thirty-six miles of Asia, and the area of the republic increased from 2,926,106 square miles to about 3,350,000.

THE SHIP OF DEATH.

Since the time when the Ancient Mariner told the terrible tale of the curse-laden ship with her crew of ghastly corpses, no more thrilling story of the sea has been related than that of the whale ship Diana, that recently drifted into one of the Shetland Islands.

A year ago she left the Shetlands on a whaling voyage to the Arctic regions, having on board fifty men. From that time nothing more was heard of her. The friends of those on board became alarmed. Money was raised and premiums offered to the first vessel that would bring tidings of the missing ship, but all to no avail. Hope was almost abandoned.

On the 2d of April the people near Rona's Voe, in one of the Shetland Isles, were startled at seeing a ghastly wreck of a ship sailing into the harbor. Battered and ice-crushed, sails and cordage cut away, boats and spars cut up for fuel in the terrible Arctic winter, her decks covered with dead and dying, the long lost Diana sailed in like a ship from the Deadman's Land. Fifty men sailed out of Lerwick in her on a bright May morning last year. All of the fifty came back on her on the second of April, this year; the same, yet how different!

Ten men, of whom the captain was one, lay stiffened corpses on the deck; thirty-five lay helplessly sick, and some dying; two retained sufficient strength to creep aloft, and the other three crawled feebly about the deck. The ship was boarded by the islanders, and, as they climbed over the bulwarks, the man at the wheel fell fainting from excitement; one of the sick died as he lay, his death being announced by the fellow occupant of his berth feebly moaning, "Take away the dead man." On the bridge of the vessel lay the body of the captain, as it had lain for four months, with nine of his dead shipmates by his side, all decently laid out by those who soon expected to share their fate.

The survivors could not bear to sink the bodies of their comrades into the sea, but kept them so that when the last man died the fated ship that had been their common home should be their common tomb. The Surgeon of the ship worked faithfully to the last, but cold, hunger, scurvy and dysentery were too much for him. The brave old Captain was the first victim, and died blessing his men. Then the others fell, one by one, until the ship was tenanted only by the dead and dying. One night more at sea would have left the Diana a floating coffin. Not one of the fifty would have lived to tell the ghastly tale.

POINTS OF HONOR.—Col. Montgomery was shot in a duel about a dog; Col. Ramsay in one about a recruit; Sterne's father in one about a goose; and another gentleman in one about an "acre of archovies;" one officer was challenged for merely asking his opponent to enjoy the second goblet; and another was compelled to fight about a pinch of snuff; General Harry was challenged by a Captain Smith for declining wine at a dinner on a steamboat, although the General had pleaded as an excuse that wine invariably made him sick; and Lieutenant Cowther lost his life in a duel because he was refused admittance to a club of pigeon shooters. In 1777 a duel occurred in New York city between Lieutenant Featherstonhough, of the Seventy-ninth, and Captain McPherson, of the Forty-second British regiment, in regard to the manner of eating an ear of corn, one contending that the eating was from the cob, the other that the grain should be cut off from the cob before eating. Lieutenant Featherstonhough lost his right arm, the ball from his antagonist's pistol shattering the limb dreadfully, as much so, that it had to be amputated. Graham, Major Noah's assistant editor in the National Advocate, lost his life in 1827, at the duelling ground, Hoboken, with Barton, the son-in-law of Edward Livingston, in a simple dispute about "what was trumps" in a game of cards?

A LONDON correspondent writes that one of the main attractions at Covent Garden Theatre is the donkey in "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves." For a stage donkey the animal is really miraculous. It is composed of two small boys; but its chief charm is its tail, which works with a string. That donkey—and especially that tail—has set all the American theatrical agents perfectly crazy. Every one of them must have a donkey to take to New York, and every one religiously believes that he is the only agent who has thought of the donkey. The consequence is that no less than nine donkeys of the Covent Garden model are now on their way to the Empire city, and no less than nine agents will be very badly sold.

CHINESE JUGGLERS.—Ibn Batuta, an Arabian traveler who spent the thirty years between 1825 and 1855 in wandering in the East, relates that one night he fell in with a Chinese juggler. He says:

He took a wooden ball with several holes in it, through which long thongs were passed and laying hold of these slung it into the air. It went so high that we lost sight of it altogether. There now remained only a little of the end of a thong in the conjurer's hand, and he desired one of the boys who assisted him to lay hold of it and mount. He did so, climbing by the thong, and we lost sight of him also. The conjurer then called to him three times, but getting no answer, he snatched up a knife as if in a great rage, laid hold of the thong and disappeared also. By and by he threw down one of the boy's hands, then a foot, then the other hand and [illegible] then the trunk, and last [illegible] Then he came down himself, and all puffing and panting, with his clothes all bloody; but presently he took the lad's limbs, laid them together in their places, and gave a kick when, presto! there was the boy, who got up and stood before us. "All this," adds the veracious traveler, "astonished me beyond measure, and I had an attack of palpitation like that which overcame me once before in the presence of the Sultan of India when he showed me something of the same kind."

AN INCIDENT OF ALL FOOL'S DAY.—The following story is related to us by an eye witness: On the first instance a plain old farmer, while taking a stroll around the market, dropped his plethoric pocket-book on Seventeenth street, and the waif was soon surrounded by a crowd of fun loving urchins, watching eagerly for some one to pick it up. Sundry passers-by stopped to appropriate the treasure, but were deterred by the uproarious laughter of the boys and the shouts of "April Fool," which invariably greeted them. After some time, the old gentleman discovering his loss, returned in search of his treasure, and to his infinite surprise discovered it lying on the pavement, surrounded by the group aforesaid. Eagerly grasping it, undisturbed by the laughter which greeted him, he opened it, and counting over a goodly pile of greenbacks, pronounced it "all right," and declaring that he had no idea the people in Richmond were so honest, went on his way rejoicing, leaving the urchins to cast wondering glances at each other and endeavoring to discover where the laugh came in.—Richmond Enquirer.

SPICY.—There was a knot of sea-captains in a store at Honolulu, the keeper of which had just bought a barrel of black pepper. Old Captain ———, of Salem, came in, and seeing the pepper, took up a handful of it.

"What do you buy such stuff as that for?" said he to the storekeeper; "it's half peas."

"Peas?" replied the storekeepe. "there isn't a pea in it."

Taking up a handful as he spoke, he appealed to the company. They all looked at it, and plunged their hands into the barrel, and bit a kernel or so, and then gave it as their universal opinion that there wasn't a pea in it.

"I tell you there is," said the old captain, again scooping up a handful; "and I'll bet a dollar on it."

The old Boston argument all over the world. They took him up.

"Well," said he, "spell that," pointing to the word "P-e-p-p-e-r," painted on the side of the barrel. "If it isn't half p's then I'm no judge, that's all."

The bet was paid.

A CHILD'S PRAYER.—One of the most estimable of men some years ago died and left a wife and several children. Among the latter was a boy of eight or ten years, who was the very personification of mischief. His mother, finding she could not control him, put him in charge of a reverend gentleman of the neighborhood, who made it a rule whenever the boy committed a fault which required correction to give him a taste of the rod, and then make him get on his knees and ask God to forgive the sin committed and bless his corrector. The boy proved to be too much for the reverend to manage. He was then placed in charge of a very excellent lady, who was distinguished for a long and pointed nose. Shortly after she took him in charge she was obliged to give him a flogging. As soon as it was through she was surprised to see him drop on his knees, and perhaps more surprised to hear him pray to be forgiven for what he had done—and "bless Mrs. J., and lengthen out her days as long as her nose, only not quite so sharp!"

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

Since the Democratic Party came into power its opponents fought it under a great variety of banners. From the election of Jefferson in 1801, until after the campaign of 1824, they fought it consistently and persistently under the name of Federalists, but never recovered from the odium of their favorite measures, the Alien and Sedition Laws. In 1828 they assumed the name of National Republicans, which was retained until 1830, when that name gave place to the Anti-Masonic Party. This party survived until after 1838, when it culminated in Thaddeus Stevens' Buckshot War, and then the name of Whig was assumed by the opponents of Democracy. In 1848 this name was dropped in its turn, and the name of Free Soil Party adopted, which, in 1854, was succeeded by the Know Nothing Party. This party, after a brief and inglorious career, gave up the ghost, and on its ruins Seward built the Republican Party.

This was the first successful sectional party known to our country, and its success resulted as all leading statesmen declared it must result—in civil war. The very year after Lincoln's election the name of Republican was discarded and the Union Party was adopted. The Democrats were always true to the Union, and this specious name carried many of the War Democrats into the ranks of the Union Party.

We notice now another change. Francis Jordan, the Chairman of the State Central Committee, has ignored the word Union, and calls the Republican State Convention to meet at Williamsport to nominate a candidate for Supreme Judge. Since the radicals refuse to restore the Union that name has been dropped and the sectional name of Republican is again adopted.

The Radical Convention will be composed of those who are opposed to the Union of the States, and the old War Democrats, who gave the Union party its strength and prestige are not even invited into its deliberations. It will be purely radical, and as such will be regarded by a majority of the voters of Pennsylvania on the second Tuesday of October next.

EDITORIALITIES.

MARRIED—In San Francisco, Mr. Ah Fy to Miss Cum Ho. A China sett.

TEMPERANCE.—Hon. A. A. Barker represented Cambria county in the Altoona Temperance Convention.

ENCOURAGING.—The Bellefonte Watchman obtained 119 new subscribers last week. It seems thriftier to be a Watchman than a FREEMAN.

BEDFORD COUNTY.—The Democracy of Bedford held their nominating Convention on Tuesday the 18th of June. When shall the Cambria Democracy nominate?

SUPREME JUDGE.—Aleck M'Clure says the contest for the judicial nomination of the Rads. lies between Judge Lynn, of Centre, and Judge Taylor, of Huntingdon.

INFORMATION WANTED.—Bernhard Windgardner, at Weaver's Hotel, Harrisburg, desires information of his brother, Julius Windgardner, a baker by trade and member of 5th Penn'a Cavalry.

A GOOD PAPER.—The Harrisburg Patriot & Union is always a most welcome visitor to our sanctum. It is edited with much ability and never fails to pour hot shot into the camp of the radicals. We commend it to our friends.

THE REASON.—The Altoona Tribune is dreadfully down on the Alleghanian for its anti-Sunday law article. The trouble is that Senator Hall is in the article, and the Tribune cares more about him than any day in the week.

INVISIBLE.—The wit of John Brotherline, B. B. of the Whig. He seems to labor like a horse to be witty, but to no purpose. In the language of the hymn,

"Nothing has half his work to do
Yet nothing's half so dull."

JEFFERSON DAVIS was on Friday last taken from Fortress Monroe to Richmond, and on Monday released by Judge Underwood on $100,000 bail to answer the charge of high treason when called upon. Horace Greeley is pledged for one-fourth of the bail, and Augustus Schell, Gen. Jacklan and A. Welsh for the rest—the last named from Philadelphia. This is eminently fit and proper. The man who more than any other brought about the rebellion, is the first to bail the leader of the rebels. Hurrah for Greeley and Davis! This is probably the end of the whole affair.

Business Matters—Hotels—Lawyers—Physicians—Machines, &c.

LETTER NUMBER TWO.

I still lotter in this beautiful city. Being a stranger and "furriner" among them, I am but little noticed. They do not seem to realize the fact that "a chiel's amang them takin notes." I left off in my last with the fashions—I shall open the present with

BUSINESS MATTERS.

Market street has been decidedly dull during the present season, and the large houses complain of a great falling off in business. This is variously accounted for. Some say the meeting of the XL. Congress, with its impeachment schemes, derange monetary matters—some blame the Secretary of the Treasury. All admit, what seems to be a fixed fact, that Philadelphia has lost the Southern trade. How suicidal in this great city of Penn to comport herself as a puritan village, for the benefit of her rivals, New York and Baltimore. While the former city is daily increasing the distance between herself and her Quaker competitor, Baltimore is looming up and bids fair ere long to be a formidable rival of Philadelphia, unless the latter city is governed by a more liberal policy than now prevails. But a truce to business. I am in pursuit of pleasure, and where shall I find it if not at the

HOTELS.

Stepped into the Continental, and admired its huge proportions. In its size, its arrangements, its appointments, it is not exceeded, perhaps, by any hotel in the country. The first thing that strikes your attention is immense platforms by which guests are screwed up stairs. It is somewhat frightful to view at first, and I am informed that many ladies refuse to submit to it. The platform, with some dozen on board, at a given signal moves up, halting at the first landing to let off or take on passengers, and thus proceeds up through the nine stories. The thing is operated by steam. Next proceeded to the bar. The apartment sacred to Bacchus is the largest I have ever seen, and floored with marble.

Passing through this room to the left, and indulging in a smile as I passed the bar, I entered another very spacious room, which I was informed was the Billiard Room. Here were six long green tables, upon each table four shining balls, and a pair of men in their shirt-sleeves, with long sticks, in their hands, endeavoring to push one ball against another. Above the table was a long row of buttons strung on wire, and these they would push together with the stick. This thing seemed to me a much safer investment than base ball, as I understand that people are never killed or wounded by it. In Billards it is said if a player minds his Q he is in no danger; whereas in Base Ball if a man don't mind his P's and Q's he may get killed or crippled.

Called at the Girard, Merchant's and other hotels, and found them all involving the same general idea. Heard of hotels on the European plan—determined to experiment on a house of that kind by way of variety. While cogitating on the subject the "St. Charles" passed along and I stepped in. Saw a great consumption of the best edibles in the market in every direction, but as I was, like the Dutchman, "more dry as hungry," I called for some whisky "on the European plan," when a very fine article was placed before me, but I could not taste the difference between it and 'Old Monongahela.' Indeed, though the St. Charles, Third street between Market and Arch, is an excellent house, I couldn't see much difference between it and other hotels. The only thing that did take me down was a radical editor from up the Susquehanna refusing to take a drink of whisky.

THE LAWYERS.

Though practising pretty extensively at the bar, I made no legal acquaintances. The courts are all in session. Visited one of them when they were trying a man for murder. He had killed an old woman for four dollars of money which she very imprudently kept about her person. Fortunately for your friends in Cambria county such accumulations of money never occur among them to tempt the felon to deeds of blood. On the trial there were two or three judges and half a dozen lawyers. There was an attempt to prove that somebody was crazy, but after hearing all the speeches I could not find out whether it was the defendant, or the murdered woman, or her husband, or Dr. Pancoast, or one of the lawyers. The case has since been decided by a verdict of murder in the first degree.

THE PHYSICIANS

are the best in the world, I was told. I only saw one of them, and he found great fault with the shape of one of my limbs and called it ancle-osis though the injury was in the knee. From this M. D. I made a Gross calculation of the rest of the faculty.

PATENTS.

Much new machinery met my eye in my travels. I called at the office of the "Great American Improved Cow Milking Machine Company." It is well adapted to answer the use of its creation, and from the appearance and taste of the milk I afterwards got I have no doubt it was procured without the agency of a cow. But the progress in Sewing Machines is still greater. They are not only artificial, but recently they have also an artificial lady to saw on them. I offered to buy one of the machines, including the lady, but though they had plenty of machines, they were out of an assortment of ladies. I afterwards learned that the work done by these artificial ladies is very common, and hence the daily papers are frequently down on the council for their "common sewers."

But the mail is closing, and I must close. I start for Washington to-morrow, when I expect to have a friendly chat with the President. I may be called as a witness before the Judiciary Committee upon the Impeachment question, unless Old Andy does something for me. He might have had Forney, but did not use the proper means to secure him, and now Forney writes an "Occasional" letter against him. But I must not give you Washington news till I get to Washington. So good bye. MACSHANE.

THE CORNER-STONE of a new Seminary, to be under the care of the Sisters of Mercy, was laid with appropriate ceremonies in Altoona, on Sunday last.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

—Greeley says the man who pays more for shop rent than for advertising, don't know his business.

—Bishop Lavielle, of the Catholic Church, died on Saturday, May 11th, at Bardstown, Ky.

—A doctor in Shelbyville, Ky., has been indicted for playing the gay Lothario with thirty-three ladies of the vicinity.

—Thirty-four divorces have just been granted in Massachusetts. Disunion always was prevalent in that section.

—A man is on trial in Detroit for the seduction of his wife, after having been divorced from her and married to another woman.

—A Cincinnati paper says advices from all quarters show that the recent severe frosts have done no appreciable damage to the fruit.

—A man in Boston has sued his brother for $10,000 damages, for alleged slanderous words written in a letter to the sister of the parties.

—Edmund Frasie, a colored boy of 13, shot his father dead, in Clarendon, S. C., a few days since, because the old man had scolded him for staying out all night.

—The New Hampshire Statesman asserts that George Peabody sawed wood at the Columbian Hotel, in Concord, to pay for a night's lodging fifty years ago.

—Camden, four miles south of Rock Island, Ill., was visited on Sunday, the 5th inst., with a fire which destroyed almost the entire business part of the town.

—A better feeling is noticed by Western papers as prevailing in that section in regard to business prospects. The crops are also said never to have looked better.

—George Winnemore, on trial last week in Philadelphia for the murder of Mrs. Dorcas Magilton, on the 25th April, has been found guilty of murder in the first degree.

—The corner stone of a new Catholic Church was laid at Woodbury, Md., Sunday. A procession of three thousand persons marched from Baltimore to take part in the exercises.

—Robert Folger was to have been hung in Washington, Pa., yesterday (Wednesday) for the murder of Robert W. Dinsmore, in January last. The dead sentence was doubtless executed.

—A young man in Troy, New York, is building a paste-board shell boat, to weigh less than forty pounds. It is to be covered with a water-proof chemical preparation invented by himself.

—Counterfeit five cent coins are in active circulation. The die or matrix by which they are made is nearly perfect but the metal is very base, in some instances being not much better than lead.

—An eminent horticulturist, now deceased, was wont to say, that whether the spring were backward or forward, the fourth of July every year found everything in gardens and orchards all right.

—A citizen of Crawford county, Pennsylvania, who made a safe of an old stove, had over three hundred dollars in greenbacks burned up the other day by neglecting to remove them before making a fire.

—A Radical sheet says that Russian America should be populated by deserters and draft-evaders. A Democratic sheet objects to that project because it would result in the making of another Radical State.

—Two female domestics in the Moravian Seminary at Bethlehem, Pa., were suffocated to death on Sunday night, 5th inst., by gas which escaped from a defective flue passing through their bed chamber.

—A young man in Zanesville, Ohio, wears his hair rolled up on the back of his head like a young lady. It grows luxuriantly, and when it gets to be three feet long he sells it to hair-dressers at a good price.

—Hon. John Bell, of Tennessee, is now living at his home, near the Cumberland Iron Works, a few hours steamboat travel below Nashville, on the Cumberland river. He is about seventy-three years old, badly broken down physically and pecuniarily.

—The Boston Post says: "Thad Stevens' luggage: One dozen cotton shirts, two pairs of flannel drawers, six pairs of stockings, an overcoat, and a ton of curses." The Post forgot to add two hundred pounds of colored housekeeper—or whatever they call her.

—A letter from South Carolina says "the famine which now threatens the land is all over the land, and no one region can help the other." The Parkersburg, West Virginia, Gazette says within a short travel of that place people are actually starving to death.

—The Caledonia Mercury, which claimed to be the oldest newspaper in Great Britain, and which for some months past was issued in the form of an evening half-penny paper, ceased publication on April 20. It had been in existence since 1662—more than two centuries.

—Two negro riots occurred in Richmond on Saturday night. One originated in an attempt to rescue a colored man from the police. The soldiers were called upon, and eighteen rioters were captured. During the evening, a man named Hayward was arrested for making an incendiary speech to the negroes.

—A woman got off the cars at Newark, Wayne county, Monday morning, and pleaded poverty to the driver of a stage at that place, and piteously asked him to carry her to the village. She had a bundle which fell while he was putting it up in his carriage, and broke open. Out of it came a stocking—save the mark—nearly filled with silver half-dollars and quarters.

—A Texas cotton planter imported forty-three monkeys for the purpose of testing their cotton-picking capabilities. He calculated that five monkeys would pick as much as three negroes, and that one negro could manage ten monkeys. Instead of that, however, it required ten negroes to manage one monkey, and not an ounce of cotton was picked. The Jockos are now rusticating in a menagerie.

—Elder Adams, who went from Maine with a colony of emigrants, to settle in Jaffa and Christianize Syria, is represented by the United States Vice-Consul at Jaffa, as a drunken swindler. The natives call him the drunken Messiah. He was great on "moral ideas" before he left Maine. He was "loyal" all over in 1865 and 1866, and now he curses and condemns his native land in his drunken tirades, which he calls sermons.

—There is now living in Lawrence county, Ohio, a gentleman who separated from his wife, in Pennsylvania, many years ago. He came to Southern Ohio, and married a Miss P——, of Marietta. After the second wife's death, a daughter by the first marriage brought about a reconciliation between her father and her mother, and they were remarried more than twenty years after the date of their separation—the first wife becoming the third.

—An Australian paper announces the discovery of a new species of liquid gum or oil. A tract ten miles square has been discovered which everywhere abounds with bubbling springs of gum or oil, while all around are vast quantities of gum solidified into the consistency of india rubber. When exposed to a fire this substance, which is light, and floats in water, is said to burn with a bright flame, to be accompanied by a thick smoke, and a smell similar to old grease.

—Dr. J. S. Fuller, of Perry, Allen county, Indiana, has examined the skeleton of an elephant found on the farm of Mr. William Thrush, in Noble county, near the Allen county line. The skeleton was found about four feet under ground, below the surface of the marsh, in which the ponderous fellow evidently became mired, as the skeleton was standing up. Dr. Fuller says he stuck in the mud fully one hundred years ago. The Indians had a tradition that elephants once inhabited northern Indiana.

—The West has a new sensation. A young man is in the habit of visiting the large cities, and in front of some of the finest residences, usually where a couple of young ladies happen to be sitting, he is suddenly taken with hemorrhage, the blood flowing copiously from his mouth. Of course he is taken in the house, where his story is that he was in the war, has a bullet in his heart, has been imprisoned and all that, which of course elicits the sympathy of the crowd, and every lady comes down handsomely. The fellow recovers rapidly and decamps.

—A woman died recently at South Reading, Mass., who was well known for her eccentric habits. In the two rooms and cellar occupied by herself and husband were two sleigh-loads of pieces of iron, which she had picked up or begged; and seventeen hundred pounds of paper rags were gathered up on the premises and sold. In assorting the rags, several quarts of copper coin—some of them rare specimens—were found, and a good handful of silver pieces. The place was so filled with trumpery that it was considerable labor to clear a place to lay her out in after death.

—A bit of sharp practice has been going on not a thousand miles from Utica, New York. A man contracted to purchase a farm. The "forfeit" was $500. A few weeks subsequent to this transaction a third party came in and offered the original owner an advance of $1,500 for the farm. The seller "backed water" and paid the forfeit, when purchaser No. 2 "didn't want to buy." As the man who received the forfeit money has made two or three thousand dollars in that way within a short time, it is entirely safe to conclude that the ways to make money are as numerous as holes in a skimmer.

—The Richmond Enquirer says: "Mr. Wilson's statement that after the passage of the Shellabarger bill, the reports of murders of freedmen ceased, proves nothing except that the object of the previous lying being gained, the falsehoods were abandoned. The improvement was in the Radical reporters, not the Southern people." The Times adds that "the self-complacent way in which Mr. Wilson described the great victories which 'we won over the Confederates,' recalled the mighty warrior's magnificent retreat from the first battle of Bull Run, in advance of the first rank which skedaddled."

IT is acknowledged by Physicians, Druggists, and everybody else who ever used it, that Dr. Strickland's Cough Balsam will cure Coughs, Colds, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, quicker and better than any other remedy known. We would recommend our readers to try this great remedy, knowing it to be A No. 1. 1m.

FIRST CLEANSE THE SYSTEM

Dr. Strickland's TONIC may be relied upon for a speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Debility, and Nervous Diseases. It creates a good appetite, restores the digestive organs, gives tone to the stomach, and strengthens the nervous system. The Doctor has thousands of letters from the most eminent men in the country, testifying to the wonderful virtues of his Tonic. Ohio is from the well-known Captain Duncan, of Cincinnati, who says it has cured him after suffering over twelve years. It is not a whisky preparation, but is especially for the debilitated female, and invalids. Those afflicted with Dyspepsia will find this an excellent remedy. It is not a patent nostrum. It is sold at the low price of $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Sent to any address by Express. Dr. Strickland's Cough Balsam will cure Coughs, Colds, Asthma, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, quicker and better than any other remedy known. We would recommend our readers to try this great remedy, knowing it to be A No. 1. 1m.

THEN STRENGTHEN IT.

IN THE ORPHANS' COURT OF CAMBRIA COUNTY.—In the matter of the petition for a review of the account of David Shaffer, Guardian of Samuel Jacob and Mary Shaffer, minor children of Jacob Shaffer, Jr., dec'd. [LETTER FROM JOHNSTOWN.]

Buck Beer and the Consequence of an over Indulgence therein—Lively Sunday Amusement—Procession—Pic-Nic—Dedication—Water Works—Conflagration—Personal, &c.

JOHNSTOWN, MAY 13, 1867.

Dear Freeman—Yesterday was a lively day in this place, owing to the periodical appearance of a fluid denominated "Buck Beer." To the uninitiated I will merely state that this beer is brewed with about double the quantity of malt used in the manufacture of lager, and as a consequence contains one "drunk" in about every half dozen glasses. Nothing induces so much to dispel the blues or drive dull care away as a few drinks of "Buck," and the pleasure experienced for the time being is ample compensation for the general lassitude and head ache which naturally follow. There is nothing strange in this, however, for all human pleasures are but transient, and every rose is said to have its thorn. Well, on Saturday evening I was leisurely strolling through town, and met "Buck Beer" in so many and varied phases that I cannot help noting some of my observations. One party I met were religious "Bucks," and were singing in stentorian voices, "I am going home to drink no more," with an occasional change to "There is rest for the beery." Then came a disconsolate looking individual who was pathetically inquiring who would look after his female progenitor, in the words of a popular ballad commencing "Why am I so weak and beery." Another young fellow, who seldom indulges in spirituous beverages, was reeling along under an accumulated load of "Buck," and several links of bologna, and insisted on furnishing me with a piece of "Sologna (hic) Bosage." Still another, who brought up against a doorstep and rolled over on the pavement, requested a byatander to bring him a first class gutter, for he felt like wallowing some. And thus it was during the entire night, and in fact all next day the flow of beer appeared to diminish not. The climax seemed to be reached about mid-day, however, and the "Buck" succeeded in getting up a real live sensation. An old German scissor grinder came reeling down the Island, about 12 o'clock, under a concentrated load of beer, and accompanying him was a large dog. When opposite the Washington House some evil disposed boys threw a few stones at the dog, which the owner naturally resented by hissing his dog on the party. One of the boys had the flesh on his arm very severely lacerated by the dog's teeth—in fact necessitating the attendance of a physician. Not content with the punishment received by the boy, the scissor grinder threw a brickbat at the rest of the party, which, missing its mark, went crashing through a boarding house window, alighting on the table just as the boarders were sitting down to dinner. The war had thus been carried into Germany, and dire was the result. A crowd of about one hundred persons had collected, and the boarders, rushing out, went into the crowd forcibly and promiscuously. Thus the battle raged, when a policeman made his appearance upon the scene of action and soon restored order out of chaos. I neglected to state that the dog had in the meantime been captured by a couple of the aforesaid boarders, and I suppose he this is in a fair way of being converted into dog's meat sausage. The owner of the canine was furnished with lodgings in one of the "apartments to let" of the lock-up, and order for the present "reigns in Warsaw." So ended one of the liveliest scenes I have witnessed for many a day.

In this connection I may state that the police made a descent on several lager beer saloons yesterday, and in each of them found a crowd enjoying themselves. The owners being thus caught in flagrante delicto, will, I presume, have to go to Court to answer for violating the Sunday license law.

The St. Joseph's (Catholic) Beneficial Society held their annual procession and celebration yesterday, and judging from the number who took part in their parade, it is the largest organization in the town. This Society has been conducive of much moral and social benefit to its members, and I am happy to note that at each succeeding anniversary of the patron of their institution they appear in increased numbers.

The members of the M. E. Church design holding a pic-nic the latter part of this month, and from a knowledge of the parties having the matter in charge I have no hesitation in saying that it will be a large and interesting affair. The proceeds are to be devoted to assisting in the construction of their large and imposing church edifice now in process of erection.

The new Lutheran church will be dedicated next Sunday, May 19th. Interesting and appropriate services will be held on the occasion.

The question of water works is again being agitated in our midst, and there is a fair prospect that the necessary amount will ere long be subscribed. The estimated cost of the works is fixed at $100,000 and $80,000 is already on the subscription books of those having the matter in charge. The new steam engine will arrive on the 20th of this month, and as water works are indispensable to its thorough usefulness, it is to be hoped a fresh impetus will be given to stock subscriptions for this object.

The barn of Mr. Singer, who resides about one mile from town, was destroyed by fire yesterday about one o'clock. The flames spread so rapidly that nothing could be saved. One valuable horse was burned. The fire was supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. I believe there was no insurance. A log school house, a considerable distance from the barn, caught from the falling sparks, and was also burned to the ground.

Your correspondent is under obligations to Messrs. Condon & Chapman for a copy of their paper, the "Teachers' Advocate"—a monthly sheet issued at the low price of 75 cents per year. Any one who peruses it will at once detect the fact that able and experienced educationalists have the original matter in charge. They deserve and will meet with success.

The sale of the Welsh & Jones estate netted about $12,000. Mr. R. Durach was purchaser of five lots at $5,150 cash.

DOCTOR SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP.—This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. Schenck, the proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable, when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption, and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful. Dr. Schenck makes professional visits to several of the larger cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months healthy, robust persons. Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr. Schenck, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometor his fee is $3.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health—are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all druggists and dealers, price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half-dozen. All letters for advice should be addressed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE BRILLIANT prismatic colors of the pearl are attributed to the decomposition and reflection of the light by the numerous grooves on its surface. The brilliant stock of goods now in abundance at J. M. Thompson's store, on High Street, is attributable to the good taste of the proprietor, and the great reduction in the price of everything he sells is attributable to the aforesaid gentleman's disposition to give every person the worth of his or her money and permit no dealer to undersell him. A failure to recognize all these attributes by buying from Jim may justly be attributed to a blindness on part of the people as to their own interests.

BOOK BINDERY, &c.—Our young friend Billy Geis and Mr. Charles Reuth have started a book-bindery and book, stationery and variety store in Johnstown, and are prepared to do binding of any description, such as music, pamphlets, magazines, etc., in the best style of the art and at as moderate charges as city work is furnished. They also keep a full supply of all the latest novels, magazines and periodicals, as well as the largest stock of wall papers and varieties to be found in the county. Our friends visiting Johnstown will do well to drop in and examine their stock. Store corner of Clinton and Locust streets.

"YOUNG man, do you believe in a future state?" "In course I duz; and what's more, I intend to enter it as soon as Betsy gets her things ready.' At last accounts Betsy was busily engaged in the pleasant task of getting "her things ready," as she was seen coming out of V. S. Barker's cheap store on High street with a bundle of dry goods and other wedding "fixins" wrapped up in brown paper. She was not only happy in anticipation of her approaching nuptials, but manifested the utmost good sense in buying her wedding finery from the clever dealer aforesaid.

AGUE, CHILLS, OR INTERMITTENT FEVER cured, or the money refunded. Dr. Witt's Ague Pills are entirely a new medicine, and having been tried in over 1200 of the very worst and obstinate cases of Chills and Fever, and not failed even in one case to effect a speedy cure, the proprietor guarantees them to cure in every case, even after all other medicines fail. Those suffering should immediately give them a trial. They are warranted to cure. For sale by Druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of the price, $1. Address Dr. Witt, Box 611, Cincinnati, O. 1y

BRICK.—Our friends in Ebensburg and elsewhere throughout the county who are desirous of procuring a good article of brick are invited to examine those manufactured by Hoover, Vaughn & Co., at Furnace Station, on the Hollidaysburg Branch. They may rest assured that these gentlemen are practical brickmakers, and that they manufacture as good brick as are made in the country and sell them as cheap. Those of our friends who contemplate building should make a note of this fact.

DID you ever contemplate the regularity, the accuracy, the almost life-like motions of those beautiful creations of mechanism, a watch or a clock? If you never did there is a fine opening for doing so at C. T. Roberts' jewelry establishment on High street, where you can procure either of these indicators of time's departure, "tick" and all, or any thing else in his line, at the very lowest cash prices. There is no sham about Cham, or his goods either, as will be apparent to all who visit his establishment.

FAR sweeter music to a true woman than the tone of harp or piano touched by her fingers, is the cheerful voice of her husband announcing to her in endearing terms that he has purchased a handsome new dress for his loving wife at the great mercantile emporium of Mills & Davis, on High street, where everything that feminine heart could desire may be found in full abundance and elaborate richness. Husbands make your wives happy.

SHOW me a man of sour, morose disposition, one who entertains good will towards none, and I will show you a dyspeptic. Dyspepsia is the bluest of all diseases. Rev. Mr. Aiken testifies that Coe's Dyspepsia Cure cured him after 15 years suffering.

MARRIED.

On the 9th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, in Newry, Blair county, Pa., by Rev. James Bradley, Mr. MICHAEL BRACKEN, of Mineral Point, Cambria county, and Miss LUE CUMMINS, of the former place.

"Her gentle spirit
Commits itself to yours, to be directed,
As from her lord, her governor, her king."
SHAKESPEARE.

And worthy indeed are you, friend Michael, of so sacred a trust. May blessings, like flowers, be expanded by the warmth of your mutual love, and may the clouds of vicissitude never for a moment obscure the sunshine of happiness and contentment which now radiates your pathway.

At the Church of St. Aloysius, Summitville, on Tuesday, 7th inst., by Rev. Thos. Ryan, Mr. RICHARD SHARP and Miss LIZZIE TROTTER, both of Hemlock, this county.

We wish our young friends an abundance of felicity in their new relations, and trust that their matrimonial barks may never settle in the mire of despondency, but that they may glide serenely down the stream of time until at length they cast anchor in that haven of eternal rest, where partings come not, and where all is perpetual happiness and joy.

At St. Aloysius' Church, Summitville, on the 30th ult., by Rev. Thomas Ryan, Mr. HUGH BANNAN, of Allegheny township, and Miss LOUISA M'CLOSKEY, of the former place.

In this place, on Tuesday last, by Rev. R. C. Christy, Mr. JOSEPH OWENS, of Cambria township, and Miss LUCY MOSER, of Ebensburg.

DIED.

At Summitville, on Wednesday, 2d inst., Mr. WILLIAM CASSIDAY, formerly of Ebensburg, aged about 88 years.

DOMESTIC RECIPES.

HOW TO HAVE MEALY POTATOES.—It is a very common thing in the spring to find strong, watery potatoes on the table, unless care has been taken to select and preserve them. A poor potato is the poorest article of food that can be had; and as soon as they begin to sprout they begin to grow poor and watery, the better part of the root going to the support of the sprouts; hence, to have mealy, nice potatoes, it is necessary to keep them from exhausting themselves in this way. An exchange gives the following method of preventing the potatoes from sprouting, which we hope will be tried and approved: Take good, sound potatoes and place them in a tub or barrel, and pour boiling water over them, letting them remain in the water until the eyes are scalded so they will not sprout; dry the potatoes thoroughly in the sun, and put them away in a box or barrel in a cool, dry place. This will give good mealy potatoes all the time.

A GENTLEMAN of Rochester was lately in Saratoga county, N. Y., and was there shown an apple-tree in a fine healthy condition, which had been ill, subjected to treatment with calomel, and thoroughly cured. This tree was afflicted with insects, which were destroying it, rendering it unproductive. A hole was bored into the body of the tree nearly through the sap, and two grains of calomel inserted. As soon as this calomel was taken up by the sap, the vermin on the tree died, and it began to bear fruit, and has done so for three years to the entire satisfaction of the owner.

ANTIDOTE.—A poison of any conceivable description and degree of potency which has been swallowed intentionally or by accident, may be rendered almost instantaneously harmless by swallowing two gills of sweet oil. An individual with a very strong constitution should take twice the quantity. This oil will neutralize every form of vegetable or mineral poison with which physicians and chemists are acquainted.

TO KEEP FRESH MEAT IN SUMMER.—Cut the meat in slices ready to fry; pack it in a jar, in layers, sprinkle with salt and pepper, just enough to make it palatable; place on the top a thick paper or cloth, with salt water an inch thick; keep this on all the while. Meat can thus be kept for three weeks in the summer, and the last will be as good as the first.

A CURE FOR FELONS.—An exchange says: A poultice of onions, applied morning, noon, and at night, will cure a felon. A gentleman knew had the case, splitting the [illegible] many if this poultice be [illegible] several times, and know that the remedy is sure, safe and speedy one.

MISCELLANEOUS.

HARTFORD
LIVE STOCK INSURANCE COMPANY
CASH CAPITAL $500,000.

We are now prepared to insure LIVE STOCK against both Death and Theft, in this live and reliable Company. Owners of stock have now the opportunity, by insuring with this Company, of obtaining security and remuneration for the loss of their animals in case of DEATH or theft.

OWNERS OF HORSES,

Manufacturers, Farmers, Teamsters, Expressmen, Physicians, and in fact all who are to any extent dependant upon the services of their horses in their daily vocations, should insure in this Company, and thus derive a protection against the loss of their animals, which are in many cases the sole means of support to their owners.

FARM STOCK.

Farmers and others owning cattle should avail themselves of this means of saving the value of their stock, and secure an equivalent for the loss which would otherwise fall heavily upon them in being deprived of their Cattle, by insuring in this, the

PIONEER COMPANY OF AMERICA.

By insuring in this Company you exchange a certainty for an uncertainty. No man can tell whether his animals may be stolen or die through some unforeseen calamity.
